THE DOCTRINE

Most artists treat radio like a favor they're hoping to collect. They buy a contact list, blast a generic email to 18,000 inboxes, and call it promotion. A list is not a strategy. A blast is not a campaign. And hoping is not a business model.

Frequency Dominion is the opposite operating system:

> You do not ask for airplay. You own the frequency.

An owner does three things a beggar can never do:

1. He chooses his targets like a buyer, not a suitor. Every station is a customer with a measurable need, a format, a clock, and a competition. You serve the need — or you don't touch the station.
2. He proves value before he asks for it. Proof stacks, EPKs, and 90-second audio weapons mean the Program Director's first impression is "this is already a professional" — not "another artist wants my time."
3. He runs campaigns, not emails. 21-day load sequences, 3-touch follow-ups, expansion loops, and 90-day audits. Systems compound. Emails don't.

THE AUTOPSY: WHY PRIOR MATERIAL FAILS

Let's be brutal. The old playbook — the contact vault, the "email everyone" advice, the 400-word pitch, the press-kit PDF nobody opens — is dogshit for one reason:

It sells the who but never teaches the how.

- A list of 18,000 names with no targeting system is a spam cannon. You don't get airplay from it. You get burned wells, marked-as-spam flags, and a reputation you have to climb out of.
- The 400-word pitch is read for four seconds. It's an essay in an era of a 90-word attention budget.
- "Just be consistent" is not a system. Consistency without a load sequence, a first-send wave, and a 3-touch follow-up cadence is just noise at a higher volume.
- No proof stack, no heat map, no format scoring, no expansion loop, no audit = no compounding. Without compounding, every single release restarts at zero.

Frequency Dominion replaces all of it. This is not a contact dump. This is the command layer that turns the contacts you already own — and the stations you haven't reached yet — into a predictable, compounding airplay machine. If you have the RadioReach Vault, you now have the keys. If you don't, this system tells you exactly who to buy, what to ask for, and how to win it.

THE SEVEN LAWS OF FREQUENCY DOMINION

1. The Unheard Tax is real. Every week without airplay costs you reach, revenue, and leverage. That tax is the enemy. This course is the audit.
2. A station is a customer, not a favor. Serve the PD's clock. Win the format. Respect the market.
3. Proof precedes the pitch. Never ask a stranger to take a risk on an unknown. Show the proof stack first.
4. Targets are architecture, not luck. Hometown heat map → format score → 20-station war room → campaign. In that order. Every time.
5. The pitch is a weapon, not a message. 90 words. One hook. One ask. Radio-ready audio in the first email.
6. Follow-up is a system, not a feeling. Three touches, spaced, escalated, polite. Persistence without the stench.
7. Empires compound. Proof → adds → exposure → income → better proof → bigger stations. The loop is the business.

WHAT'S INSIDE EVERY LESSON

- Masterclass directive & strategic blueprint — authoritative operational doctrine, commercial frameworks, and tactical rules of engagement (zero video script meta).
- Implementation drills — reps, timeboxes, and pass/fail standards.
- Action worksheet & operational protocol — publication-grade structured tables and field protocols in printable PDF & Markdown.
- War-room notes (private strategy PDF) — the elite-level doctrine, not for redistribution.
- Community prompts — four engagement posts per lesson for the member group.

THE INSIDER LAYER (PREMIUM FLOOR)

Beneath the 24 lessons sits the operator's level — the mechanics the industry uses internally and almost never explains:

- The Radio Industry Insider Decoder — how ratings really work (PPM vs. diary, cume/AQH, books and ratings weeks), the clock and rotation categories (power/medium/light/recurrent/gold), real add cycles (Tuesday commercial, weekly college), the college chart machine (NACC 200 + RMR), the promotion industry's four-phase machine, a full glossary, and 10 insider rules.
- Six executive module playbooks — trust architecture, market tiers, the two-email system, the add-cycle clock + impact dates, the relationship ladder + etiquette code, and the chart-to-cash pipeline.
- The 24-Lesson Insider Edge — one sharp upgrade per lesson: the mechanic, the missing piece, and the operator move.
- Executive PDFs of every playbook — branded, printable, confidential.

Access order: decode (day 1) → lesson → lesson's Insider Edge → module playbook (after the module's 4th lesson) → monthly rereads. This layer is why the offer is a mastermind, not a course.

THE 5 BONUSES

Total certified value: $5,193 → $97. The Insider Layer alone carries $1,391 of the stack.

YOUR FIRST 24 HOURS (DO THIS BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE)

1. Open Module 1. Complete Lesson 1.1 Masterclass Dossier.
2. Run the Unheard Tax audit — 20 minutes. Write your number down.
3. Build your Proof Stack folder (Lesson 1.3) — even if it's three screenshots and a YouTube link.
4. Sign the No-Spam Oath (Lesson 1.4). Print it. Read it before every send.
5. Post your Unheard Tax number in the community. The group holds you to it.

The system works only if you run it as a system. 21 days. 20 stations. 3 touches. That's the minimum viable empire.

THE COMMITMENT OATH

> I am done asking for airplay. From today, I am a frequency owner. I will target with precision, prove with evidence, pitch with weapons, follow up with systems, and compound every win until airplay is a revenue line — not a hope.
